Overview

Government entities and municipalities, corporations, property owners and developers, telecommunication companies, and other private entities turn to Steve for his decades of experience with complex governmental, permitting, land use, and environmental matters.

- Complex Governmental Matters: Steve has served as outside counsel to the Massachusetts Gaming Commission. He helped establish its governance and regulatory structure, which manages competing interests in the newly-established Massachusetts gaming industry. He has also served as special municipal counsel for inter-municipal disputes, development and infrastructure projects, and complex affordable housing projects.
- Permitting: Steve has advised FCC-licensed wireless carriers on hundreds of permitting, transactional, administrative, and judicial proceedings in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.
- Land Use: Steve has represented a global telecommunication carrier building significant infrastructure in challenging development environments over many state and local jurisdictions.
- Environmental: Steve has overseen complex federal and state Superfund cases, including litigation, mediation, and settlement.

Clients praise Steve's expertise, attention to detail, and work ethic.
