Overview

Martell joined Anderson & Kreiger in 2021 after graduating from the University of Kentucky Law School where he was a member of the diversity and inclusion committee for the Kentucky Law Journal. Prior to that, Martell worked as a judicial law clerk for the Honorable Chief Justice Denise Clayton of the Kentucky Court of Appeals and was a 2020 Summer Associate at Anderson & Kreiger. In addition to his work as a law clerk, while pursuing his Masters in Community Leadership and Development from the University of Kentucky, Martell worked as a graduate research assistant on two important projects. Martell worked as the principal investigator on a six-state land study to determine land ownership inequality in the Appalachian region. Martell also researched value-based supply chains to facilitate the creation of a national database to identify prominent community-supported agricultural organizations that assist in providing resources to food deserts.
