Overview

Corporations that need to utilize and understand their insurance policies rely on Sara's industry knowledge and expertise in understanding insurance policies and their limitations. Her practice includes insurance coverage issues, complex commercial disputes, and appeals. She has litigated insurance coverage and bad faith matters on behalf of both insurers and policyholders and advises insureds and insurers on claims and coverage positions. She has also represented clients in the public sector and venture capital, private equity, biotechnology, pharmaceutical, and financial services industries on litigation matters. She is a co-chair of the Boston Bar Association's Insurance and Reinsurance subcommittee, organizing programs for local attorneys on emerging aspects of insurance law.

Sara joined the firm in 2019. She previously worked at a large international law firm. She maintains an active pro bono practice, representing indigent clients in family law matters, and serves as a citywide co-chair of Greater Boston Legal Services' Associates' Fundraising Drive.
